PROUD TO BE CARLISLE COUNTY OWNED AND OPERATED

Democrats Select Michael Toon for Carlisle County Clerk Position on November Ballot

Democratic Party nominee Michael Toon

By Carlisle Weekly Staff

On March 10, 2012, the Carlisle County Democratic Committee held a special meeting to caucus and determine who will represent the Democratic Party on the November ballot to fill the vacated County Clerk's seat that was held by Theresa Owens.

The Democratic Committee nominated four candidates, Larry Fraser, Michael Hoskins, Michael Toon, and Brandi Webb. After nominations, the 15 person committee elected Michael Toon, Publisher of the Carlisle Weekly Newspaper, as their candidate for the November election.

In a statement, Toon, 31, of Kirbyton, Kentucky, said that he was humbled to be named the Democratic Party's candidate. "Carlisle County is the best place on earth, and my newspaper reflects my love and dedication to the people of the county. I am excited to take my service to the county to the next level and represent the Democratic Party on the November ballot," Toon said.

In regards to the future of the newspaper, Toon said that he will still manage the paper, but will hire someone to edit, conduct ad sales and handle the day-to-day operations of the newspaper. "I feel that the Carlisle Weekly has grown to the point to where it has an importance in the community, and I plan on continuing that constant improvement and to manage the paper while writing from time to time as I will mainly focus on human interest stories and what I originally grew up writing, sports," Toon said.

The Carlisle County Republican Party will meet on March 17th in the basement of the St. Charles Catholic Church at 10:00 a.m. According to Carlisle County Republican Party President John Matt Fourshee, the orders of business will include election of officers and committee members for the upcoming year and discussion on the Republican position in the Carlisle County Clerk's race. Fourshee said that it is uncertain at this time if a candidate for the November election will be formally announced at the meeting.

Roach to be Tried in Carlisle County Pending Ability to Seat Jury

Anita Roach from a previous court appearance

*By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly*

On Monday in Carlisle County Circuit Court Judge Tim Langford ruled to keep the trials of Anita Roach in the county, but said he would reconsider if it appears unlikely the court can seat a jury. Will Kautz, representing Roach, argued the trials should be moved because of pre-trial publicity. Commonwealth Attorney Mike Stacy contended they should remain in Carlisle County.

During the hearing both attorneys agreed to move the trial on the three counts of attempting to obtain a controlled substance by fraud, false statements or forgery from March 26, 2012, to after the June 25th trial on the 25 charges concerning the school bus accident.

Roach was indicted in December on one count of second-degree manslaughter in the death of six year old Logan Simpson, two counts of second-degree assault for serious injuries to Donna Wilson and Brooke Kelly, adults on the bus, three counts of fourth-degree assault in connection with minor injuries to three students, and 19 counts of first-degree wanton endangerment relating to the remaining children riding on the bus. The June 25th trial concerning the bus accident is expected to take four days to complete.

School Board Updates Public Concerning Student's Testing Standards and Career Readiness

Mahlon Thomas speaks with a high school student about career options during this week's Operation Preparation Program

Assessment: The teachers continue to prepare unit plans and create formative assessments for the new common core standards. High School Juniors met with Mrs. Edging and Mrs. Angel last week and set their ACT goals. They have set a goal of 21.5 for this year, which would be an increase of over two points. Learning clubs are meeting in all three schools and sharing ideas as well as studying strategies from the CASL book. With testing beginning in approximately two months, review sessions are gearing up and teachers are making final preparations. High school will be testing for the first time this year using ACT end of course exams. The exams will be given on-line and we will get immediate feedback on the multiple choice portion of the test. The testing window for the end of course exams will be April 30-May 11 and at the middle and elementary school, it will be May 7-11.

College & Career Readiness indicators- The 5th and 6th grade students will participate in a career fair with Hickman county students on March 27th. The high school will participate in the state initiative Operation Preparation during the week of March 12-14.

Carlisle County will be participating in this State initiative in several ways. Seniors will be asked to sign a banner showing where they are going to school or what branch of the military they are going into, an announcement will be made by the guidance counselor each day with information on college/career readiness and facts about the benefits of post-secondary education, a letter will be sent home to parents outlining all activities for the week, several post-secondary institutions will be on hand one day to advise students on college choices and benefits, and finally, mentors in several different professions will be present one day during the week to counsel underclassmen on career choices.

The dates for Operation Preparation are March 12-14 and all events will be held at the high school. We encourage anyone who wants to volunteer to get involved in this opportunity to help all the students at Carlisle County to reach their potential. For more information, please call 628-3800 and ask to talk to Angel Thompson (ext. 4400), Jay Simmons (ext. 7002), or Lisa Adams (ext. 6031)

COMPASS testing is also continuing at the High School. This is an ACT type test that is given after the ACT for students who did not meet the bench marks to qualify in college. The students are given interventions in areas they did not qualify in and then if they pass the compass, they can take college courses without remediation. In house testing continues in the Elementary and Middle schools and the results at both schools show significant improvement since the beginning of the year, especially in the early grades at the elementary school.

Special education: The Kentucky Continuous Monitoring

Process (KCMP) document for the Fall 2011 and Spring 2012 reporting periods have been submitted to KDE for approval. The district continues to maintain 100% compliance in all Indicators. Indicators include transition, evaluation timelines, successful graduation rate of students with IEPs, dropout rate of students with special needs, and proficient rates and progress of students with special needs. Preschool indicators are also included on the KCMP document.

Middle/High School Life Skills Special education teacher Amanda Cox presented Response to Intervention training to the middle school staff in November 2011 during a teacher planning day. Response to Intervention involves making accommodations in the classroom and providing intensive intervention to students struggling in the classroom. Dr. Pam Matlock, Murray State University, presented to the middle school staff differentiated instruction and inclusion of all students in the regular education classroom

CSI: CSI has had its best year so far with around 30 students attending 30 days or more. 21st CCLC considers 30 days to be the important mark for impacting a student's success with the following highlights:

- Our afterschool year program will end on March 19th.
- CSI represented Carlisle Co in the 1st Region Archery tournament at Trigg Co High School. Our students performed very well and are excited about competing in the future.
- Guitar lessons are going well with Ken Jewell and Kathleen Webb teaching.
- Students are taking their last Saturday trip for the year to Cardinal Lanes for a bowling trip.
- We have already planned three of our four weeks in the summer. Jason Lindsey (Hooked on Science) is leading one week. Teri Lampkins with Takeoffs is leading a week all about aeronautics. Week three is Survivor week with lots of outdoor stuff. Week four will focus on the students using their imaginations to create art projects.

Operation Preparation Update: Operation Preparation is off to a great start here! Monday morning started with 11 community mentors meeting individually with sophomores discussing their career interests while reviewing the students' ILPs. Thanks to Mrs. Lisa Adams who contacted the community members and organized the day's event. The teachers spent time during first period reflecting with students about the importance of being college and career ready. Pepsi provided us an enormous banner to hang in the hallway, and tomorrow, our seniors will be signing it sharing where they are going to college and planned major. On Wednesday, Mrs. Thompson has planned a mini college/career/military fair. The Air Evac Life team members will land their helicopter on the soccer and provide our students a tour while discussing careers available in the medical field. Wednesday is a Alma Mater day, the faculty and staff have been asked to wear a shirt representing their alma maters.

The amended school calendar for the current year was approved. Make up time has been completed and provided there are no weather issues the remainder of the year will follow the school calendar. May 16 is the last day for students, May 17 Closing Day for teachers, and May 18 is graduation. Approval was given for maintenance on the middle school roof with Garland Company that extends the warranty 10 years. Change order #2 was proved for the construction project for kitchen equipment accessories. While the superintendent screening committee is still reviewing the 10 applications received, the board did discuss the process and planned on potential interview dates once the committee's recommendation is received.

Arlington City Council Discusses Possible Infrastructure Solutions at Recent Meeting

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The Arlington City Council met in regular session on March 12, 2012, and the meeting began with the approval of the previous meeting's minutes and the treasurer's report.

In the treasurer's report City Clerk Anita Lambert reported that the funds in the water system were low due to a $1,800 repair in a water leak that occurred near Highway 51 in Arlington. The leak combined with the restructuring of the road to state specifications made the cost of the repairs quite high.

Overall, Lambert told the council that the city was in good shape fiscally, but still owes a $33,000 Sanitation Department bill. Arlington continues to make payments on the bill when it can. However, after discussion the council came to the reality that there was a high probability of the sanitation and sewer rates having to be increased in the years to come. However, as Mayor McGee said, "We don't have any idea what is going to happen." Council members discussed the possibility of meeting with the members of the Sanitation Department, which includes the Carlisle County School System, City of Bardwell, Carlisle County and the City of Arlington to see what could be done and what the options are.

Councilman Jason Bogle asked that if it was possible and would it be cheaper to have the City of Arlington treat the water and manage the wastewater itself. Mayor Bobby McGee said that the city once did that, but it had entered into a contract with the Sanitation Department, a contract that will expire in 42 years.

Mayor McGee said that the City of Arlington wrote letters to local representatives and leaders in Washington D.C. However, the response was all the same, there is simply no money for small towns that have infrastructures that are old and decaying.

The next item of business discussed was the cemetery report. Councilman Paul Gaddie discussed the need for a road to curve along the back part of the cemetery, and after discussion the council decided to let Mayor McGee contact Arlington Magistrate Sonny Pearson in regards to the issue of maintenance on the cemetery road.

In the daily operations report, Mayor McGee reported that City Maintenance Director John Lemons has worked on weatherproofing the fire department doors and continued road maintenance in fixing water leaks, cleaning ditches and picking up litter along the roadways.

In ballpark news, Councilman Jason Bogle reported that there will be no men's softball league this year due to lack of interest. Bogle reported that softball league participation is down in areas such as Paducah and a new league has been formed in Mayfield, creating new competition.

The park will still be available for rentals for practices and special tournaments. You can contact park manager Mike Sera for more information and rates for tournaments and practices.

In the final bit of business before adjournment, the city council approved Jimmy Bostic as Building Code Officer and Johnny Parham and Allen Wilson as electrical inspectors for the City of Arlington.

Saturday, March 17th at 10:00 AM at the St. Charles Catholic Church The Carlisle Co. Republican Party Will meet to elect officers, precinct captains and precinct co-captains to serve for the next four years.

If you, or you know of anyone, that would like to get involved and serve on the committee, please be present at this meeting.

All registered Carlisle Co. Republicans have a voice, and vote, on who the officers will be for the next four years, so please come out and spread the word to your neighbors and friends. Also, with Mrs. Theresa Owens retiring from County Clerk, The Republican Party can nominate a candidate to be on the ballot in November. If you know of a registered Republican that would be interested in this nomination, please contact Carlisle County Republican Party President John Matt Fourshee. We will open the floor for discussion about this appointment at the meeting.

If you are interested on serving the Republican Party of Carlisle Co. or interested on who will be getting the nomination for County Clerk to run in November, please be present at the meeting.

Receive Compensation for Frequently Flooded Cropland

Landowners may now receive federal compensation for placing an easement on their property to restore wetland habitat.

Landowners in Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle, Graves and Ballard counties may now be eligible to receive federal compensation for restoring and protecting wetlands in exchange for retiring eligible land from agriculture. Rates range up to $3895/acre for cropland and up to $1948/acre for existing woodlands. Some properties may qualify for additional per acre incentive payments, based on location.

On Tuesday, March 27th at 8am there will be an informational landowner meeting, open to the public, at the Fulton County Extension Office, located in Hickman, KY for landowners in Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle, Graves and Ballard counties interested in learning more about the Wetlands Reserve Enhancement Program.

The Wetlands Reserve Enhancement Program (WREP) is a component of the Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP). The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) has dedicated additional WREP funds through its new Mississippi River Basin Healthy Watersheds Initiative (MRBI). Implemented cooperatively by NRCS, The Nature Conservancy, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, this new source of funding will assist landowners in all or parts of Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle, Graves and Ballard counties with restoring and protecting wetland habitats for wildlife while improving water quality locally and throughout the Mississippi River basin. The goals of this project are to: Restore 5,500 acres of wetlands in the Obion Creek, Bayou De Chien and Mayfield Creek watersheds by 2015. Reduce nutrient inputs to the Mississippi River from targeted watersheds. Improve and protect habitat for the federally-endangered Indiana Bat and for wetland associated wildlife.

Landowners enrolled in the WREP place an easement on their property, but retain ownership of their land and the right to sell or lease the land with the easement. Fulton County landowner Walt Goodman states “Enrollment into the program allowed me to purchase a ‘better’ row crop production farm and still own both farms.” Landowner’s reserved rights include control of access; title and right to convey such title; quiet enjoyment; undeveloped recreational uses such as hunting, fishing; and the right to subsurface resources (without disturbance to the easement).

Landowners may request authorization from NRCS to conduct certain management practices through a Compatible Use Agreement. Examples of these agreements include: development of food plots, mowing of levees and/or access roads, management of shallow water areas, etc.

More than one-third of the country’s threatened and endangered species live only in wetlands and an additional 20% use or inhabit wetlands at some time during their life.

Wetlands play a critical role in filtering runoff from the land before it reaches open water. Scientists have estimated that wetlands may remove between 70-90% of entering nitrogen. Wetland vegetation typically traps 80-90% of sediment from runoff, preventing it from moving downstream.

Landowners interested in learning more or applying for assistance should contact Wetland Team members Donna Gilland (NRCS Conservationist) at (270) 247-9529 ext 220 or Shelly Morris (The Nature Conservancy) at (270) 748-0259.

Treasures of Old and New

Jesus often spoke of the kingdom of God in parables. One such time is found in Matt. 13 where Jesus spoke of how valuable the kingdom of God is and should be to us. (v. 44-46)

The Jesus asked a question, “Have you understood all these things?” (v. 51) It is important that we understand the Master’s teaching. I’m sure if we don’t understand at some point, which we all fit into, He will gladly explain again. But if and when we do understand our reply to His question must be, YEA LORD!

Then when we have replied with the positive answer Jesus is looking for, we hear this wisdom being imparted to us. “Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old.” (v. 52)

If you recall, in Jesus day the people went to the scribes and lawyers about things they didn’t understand. The lawyers were supposedly expert in all scriptures because their lives were spent copying scriptures. Their days were spent reading and writing scriptures.

Now Jesus says that we who are instructed unto the kingdom of heaven are to receive understanding and become the scribes of our day and time.

We, as they must be students of the Word of God, learners with teachable spirits. Not being learners with teachable spirits are one of the biggest reasons believers stop growing and maturing into Christ likeness. Jesus told us this in John 8:31-32, “If we continue in His word then are we disciples indeed and we shall know the truth and the truth will make us free.”

We must have something before we can bring forth. Moses left Egypt, all its wealth, power etc. because he esteemed Christ to be greater riches. Where your treasure is there will your heart be also and out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks. We must know what our treasure is and where it came from. Today, there are so many substitutes for the unsearchable riches of Christ: education, performances, lights, camera, action etc.

We are to be the scribes for our generation. Our treasure is made up of both old and new understanding. I’ve seen over the years that youth is many times preferred over wisdom and experience. Often times when someone young is really on fire for Jesus the older people will sit down and say, it’s their turn now. NO! Their turn comes by gaining all the wisdom, understanding and knowledge they can from the generation that has it.

The present generation must gain from the former generations before they can have the rich treasures to bring forth. The music, songs, preaching and ministry of the past are for our learning. Just as scripture says that things recorded of old in the Word are for our learning.

The wise, now generation will not cast away the old but will draw from it, then add to it, now faith, now revelation, and the combination becomes the richest treasure to pass on to the future, thereby bridging the gap between old and new. (Past)

Ps. 22:4-5 “Our Fathers trusted and they were not confounded and you delivered them”

(The Now and the Future) Ps. 71:17-18 “O God thou hast taught me from my youth and hitherto have I declared thy wondrous works. Now also when I am old and grey-headed, O God forsake me not until I have showed thy strength unto this generation and thy power to everyone that is to come”

ONE PRESSON’S VIEW

By Kay Presson

Saint Patrick's Day is Saturday, March 17, and being of Irish/English ancestry, I have always been interested in the history of my ancestors.

There was a time in the 1850's when our Irish ancestors arrived in the United States that they were not only discriminated against, but also made fun of, heckled and laughed at. They endured all this, like many immigrants, and they survived.

Many employers had signs posted, "No Irish Need Apply." They were called "drunken Irish," among other derogatory names. They became legal immigrants, and during the Civil War, one of the famous fighting units was the "Irish Brigade."

Folks, I have never understood why there is discrimination and name-calling against other humans. We are all God's creation, and the wonderful United States of America is indeed the "melting pot" of the world.

If you would like to check further into Irish history, there are many websites that give in-depth information.

God bless America, and happy Saint Patrick's Day!

This week's inspiration

This week's inspiration from the sermon titled “Nit Picking” and scripture verses Exodus 20:1-17: Nit pickers are people who stress over insignificant details. We sometimes feel this way about God’s rules. The ten commandments are God’s moral laws. They were written on virtually indestructible stone. The standard endures. It is permanent and unchanging. Some may think that God is the great ‘nit picker’. But the details are important. God pays attention and so should we. He isn’t trying to make us miserable – they help order our society. They teach us that God is the reason for our being. They don’t protect us from evil but from doing evil. They are designed to be written on our heart. We are not able to keep them on our own efforts. They show our need for God’s grace. The one

Carlisle County Schools Participates in Operation Preparation

CCHS Seniors signed a banner telling their plans for after graduation

Carlisle County Schools participated in Operation Participation this week at the Carlisle County High School.

Operation Preparation is a joint effort of the Kentucky Department of Education and the Department of Workforce Development and provides a powerful opportunity for schools, students, parents and communities to collaborate in the process of effective advising and focus attention on the importance of planning for college and/or career.

Carlisle County participated in this state initiative in several ways. Seniors signed a banner showing where they are going to school or what branch of the military they are going into, an announcement was also made by Angel Thompson, Carlisle County High School Guidance Counselor each day with information on college/career readiness and facts about the benefits of post-secondary education.

This week a letter was sent home to parents outlining all activities for the week and several post-secondary institutions will be on hand one day to advise students on college choices and benefits, and finally, mentors in several different professions will be present one day during the week to counsel underclassmen on career choices.

CCES Kicks off WATCH D.O.G.S. Program

Carlisle County Elementary School will be holding a Dads and Kids' Pizza Night to kick off a new innovative father involvement program called WATCHD.O.G.S.® (Dads Of Great Students). WATCH D.O.G.S.® is the father involvement initiative of the National Center For Fathering.

Inspired by one father's desire to increase male involvement in his children's school and with the help of the schools teachers and administration, WATCH D.O.G.S was created in 1998 at George Elementary in Springdale, AR. Since then, the program has spread to more than 2276 schools in over 41 states and other countries abroad. This special night will be held March 20th, from 5:30pm-7:00pm at the Carlisle County Elementary Gym

Studies by the U.S. Department of Education have demonstrated that a positive adult male role model will have a uniquely positive impact on the development and educational success of a child dramatically increasing the child's likelihood of graduating and getting mostly A's along the way, while at the same time dramatically decreasing the likelihood of that child living in poverty, getting involved with drugs and alcohol, and avoiding potentially devastating choices that result in a criminal record or a teen pregnancy. The U.S. Department of Education has identified the WATCH D.O.G.S.® program as an effective way to increase male involvement in our nation's schools.

Program benefits

- Students gain a positive male role model. Some students do not have a father-figure present in their home and the number of male teachers has been steadily declining in recent years. More positive male role models are needed in the school setting.
- Schools gain an extra set of eyes and ears. The presence of WatchDOGS (Dads of Great Students) can increase a sense of security at the building for students and staff, and it helps create an environment conducive to learning.

- Fathers and father-figures can spend meaningful time with their students in the school setting and gain a greater awareness of the positive impact they can have on their student's life, just by being a 'dad'.
- FOR MORE INFORMATION on the WATCH D.O.G.S.® program call 1-888-540-3647, e-mail watchdogs@fathers.com or visit www.fathers.com/watchdogs. Pizza Night information: Lisa Adams, at the S.T.A.R.S. FRYSC @ 628-3800, ext. 6031.

USDA Reminds Producers of Approaching CRP General Sign-up

WASHINGTON, Mar 7, 2012 — U.S. Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today reminded landowners, farmers and ranchers that the opportunity to enroll in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up 43 is approaching. Producers who want to offer eligible land for CRP's competitive general sign-up can enroll March 12 through April 6, 2012, at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) service center.

CRP is a voluntary program that assists farmers, ranchers and other agricultural producers to protect their environmentally sensitive land. Producers enrolling in CRP plant long-term, resource-conserving covers in exchange for rental payments, cost-share and technical assistance.

Producers are encouraged to contact their local FSA service center or visit FSA's website at <http://www.fsa.usda.gov/crp> for additional information regarding CRP.

USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer and lender. To file a complaint of discrimination, write to USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Ave., S.W., Washington, DC 20250-9410, or call (800) 795-3272 (Voice) or (202) 720-6382 (TDD).

AREA NEWS

Senator Ken Winters Frankfort Report

FRANKFORT – By the time you are reading this, a week will have passed since the monster tornadoes targeted many of our communities. I want to tell the victims that you are not alone; Kentucky stands with you. The Red Cross has been overwhelmed with Kentuckians’ generosity, so much so, that they are now asking for cash donations instead of material items. I pray that the Lord continue to provide strength to the people who have lost loved ones and possessions and also for the first-responders and other citizens who have worked unfailingly in order to set right what nature has done her best to destroy. The Gateway Area Development District at 606-780-0090 has established a fund for tornado assistance and relief in Eastern Kentucky. Your local Red Cross is also accepting donations. And finally, the Kentucky Emergency Management website has a list of relief agencies that have been identified as serving Kentucky storm victims specifically, <http://kyem.ky.gov/donationsvolunteers/Pages/default.aspx>. Please, give what you can.

With the disaster weighing heavily on all our minds and reeling from the testimonials of both constituents and legislators, the business of the Legislature continued under a somber cloud. There are three bills I would like to briefly discuss. Senate Bill 88 makes an allowance for Kentucky high school students earning Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship, or KEES, money. Currently, students who transfer from an eligible to an ineligible high school in Kentucky or out-of-state forfeit their KEES earnings. This bill would allow them to keep the KEES funds they earn while at the eligible school as long as they obtain a high school diploma or GED within two years of their presumed graduating class. It also may be of help to children whose parents are in the military because of their frequent moves.

I sponsored Senate Bill 143 which would allow parents to enroll children in school districts other than the one in which they reside, providing the receiving district approves the transfer. The bill also prohibits schools from charging tuition for out-of-district students but makes a provision for a portion of the SEEK funding to be made for the district the student actually attends and a portion to remain with the district of residence.

I believe that the legislation will help parents who would rather their children attend school in the same district in which they work, keeping them nearby during the day, as opposed to the district in which they live. There is language in the bill to prevent discriminatory and illegal athletic practices.

Another education related bill, Senate Bill 131, unanimously approved, would affect post-secondary education. The bill allows the state’s six comprehensive public universities to offer a combined total of 18 advanced-practice doctoral programs. This legislation builds on last year’s work on the same topic but permits more flexibility for our universities to meet our Commonwealth’s needs for advanced degree programs.

Senate Bill 58 addresses an increase in hospital emergency-room violence. Similar to the exception made for misdemeanor shoplifting and domestic-violence situations, the bill would allow police officers to make an arrest, based on probable cause alone, for misdemeanor assault occurring in an emergency room. Under current law, the police officer would have to witness the crime before being allowed to make an immediate arrest.

Senate Bill 157 aims to clarify the wording of administrative regulations. It provides for greater transparency and accountability of the many regulations that oftentimes bedevil small businesses.

Finally, the House passed their budget proposal. As I have discussed, small budget groups have been meeting for several weeks now in anticipation. I have begun to review the document and while, as of this writing, I haven’t delved into all of the details of this 288-page document, it is our understanding that the debt level is at 6.8% of General Fund revenues. This is a matter of great concern to me. It is my hope that the House would consider Senate Bill 1 which we passed to cap the state’s debt at 6%. I will continue to keep you apprised of the situation.

We have 16 more days left. Please contact me with any questions or concerns about these bills or any that we will be considering. You can call the General Assembly’s toll-free Message Line at 1-800-372-7181 or follow our work on the Internet at www.lrc.ky.gov.

Once again, I ask that you keep the many Kentuckians affected by the storms in your prayers.

FRYSC Funding is Essential in the Development of Underprivileged Children

Rep. Steven Rudy (middle) met with FRYSC coordinator Lisa Adams (right) and Lisa Canler (left) in Frankfort

FRANKFORT, Ky. (March 07, 2012) –As the threat of subsequent budget cuts increases, so too does the number of Kentucky children that Family Resource and Youth Service Centers across the state work to reach. The Kentucky Family Resource and Youth Services Centers (FRYSC) were established under the historic 1990 Kentucky Education Reform Act with the mission to help academically at-risk students succeed in school by helping to minimize or eliminate non-cognitive barriers to learning. Currently, there are 819 Family Resource and Youth Services Centers in 1,160 schools, serving 619,541 students throughout Kentucky.

The needs of Kentucky’s families and students continue to grow. The resources that FRYSC have to meet those needs continue to shrink. "Because of recent economic pressures on the national, state, and local levels, our centers are doing more with fewer resources in their communities and shrinking funds in the FRYSC budgets," said Michael Flynn, President of the Kentucky FRYSC Coalition and coordinator of the Estill County Youth Services Center. "For instance in Fiscal Year (FY) 08 Centers were receiving $210.00 per free lunch student and currently receive $177.05 during FY 12." The trend of growing free lunch eligible students has continued. In the past year alone, there are 3,846 more students eligible for free lunch meals.

The accompanying chart shows that FY 12 had an additional reduction of 1.7% reducing the per student allocation to approximately $177.05. The proposed FY 13 reduction of 4.5% (HB265) will produce even further significant reduction to the per student amount.

"The ability for FRYSC to support families and students is in danger," said Betty Marshall, FRYSC Coalition President-Elect and coordinator of the Hand In Hand Family Resource Center in Bullitt County. "Many of the supports that help students succeed in school will no longer be available."

| Impact of Subsequent Yearly Budget Cuts | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| FY: | Budget: |
| 2009: | $57.0 million |
| 2010: | $55.5 million |
| 2011: | $52.6 million |
| 2012: | $52.1 million |
| 2013: | $49,801,600 (Based on HB265) |
| 2014: | $49,801,600 (Based on HB265) |

What is the value of these centers to the Bluegrass state?

The Family Resource and Youth Services Centers Coalition of Kentucky invited advisory council members, community partners, parents, grandparents, students, board of education members, teachers, classified support staff, superintendents, administrators, and many other related stake holders to participate in the 2012 FRYSCky Coalition Survey to determine the impact of these centers.

There was an overwhelming response with over 16,000 participants. 61.3% of respondents identified themselves as teachers or classified support staff. "It's telling that so many of our survey participants identify themselves as teachers and classified support staff since they are working daily with our centers in the school environment," said Tana Jones, FRYSC Coalition Public Policy and coordinator at the Wingo Family Resource Center in Graves County.

The 2012 survey listed services or referrals provided by Family Resource and Youth Services Centers. The graph below indicates areas that were top priorities for Kentucky’s youth and families to succeed according to respondents. It is evident based on this data that the work of FRYSC in the areas of family assistance, graduation/dropout prevention, health/wellness/nutrition, and family crisis intervention are keys in student success.

Survey results indicated that 94.8% of all people surveyed agree and strongly agree the support and protection of FRYSC funding will help strengthen and stabilize students and families in our Commonwealth.

"It's clear that Family Resource and Youth Services Centers are making a difference in the daily lives of children," said Rebial Reynolds, FRYSC Coalition Public Policy and coordinator of the Prestonsburg Elementary Family Resource Center. "Continued reductions in funding will have a significant impact on FRYSC and the programming offered in schools that so many people in this state rely on and value."

Girl Scouts Celebrate 100th Birthday

Girl Scouts of the USA celebrates 100 years of building girls of courage, confidence and character who make the world a better place.

A century ago, Juliette Gordon Low assembled 18 girls in Savannah, Georgia, for the first local Girl Scout meeting. She believed that all girls should be given the opportunity to develop physically, mentally, and spiritually. With the goal of bringing girls out of isolated home environments and into community service and the open air, Girl Scouts hiked, played basketball, went on camping trips, learned how to tell time by the stars, and studied first aid.

Almost immediately, Juliette Gordon Low's dream for a girl-centered organization was realized. Today, Girl Scouts of the USA has a membership of over 3.2 million girls and adults in every residential zip code and in 90 countries. Nearly 60 million living women in the U.S. today are Girl Scout alumnae. From our willingness to address important issues, to our commitment to diversity and inclusiveness, Girl Scouts is dedicated to every girl, everywhere.

"Our 100th anniversary is our moment in time to bring the nation together to make a difference in the lives of girls," said Anna Maria Chávez, CEO of Girl Scouts of the USA. "Girls represent an incredible resource for our country and Girl Scouts has always provided them a platform for success, and during our centennial we want everyone—men and women alike—to join us in making sure that every girl achieve her full leadership potential."

What is especially important about the Girl Scouts' rich history of supporting women's leadership is their insistence on being a voice for all girls, regardless of their background or neighborhood. Founder Juliette Gordon Low's first 18 Girl Scouts included girls from influential Savannah families, as well as girls from the Female Orphan Asylum and Congregation Mickve Israel. As early as 1917 the first African-American troops were established, as well as troops for disabled girls. One of the earliest Latina troops was formed in Houston in 1922; Girl Scout troops supported Japanese-American girls in internment camps in the 1940s, and by the 1950s, Girl Scouts was leading the charge to fully integrate all of its troops. In 1956, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. called Girl Scouts "a force for desegregation."

In a move designed to focus national attention on girls and the issues they face, Girl Scouts of the USA has announced the launch of To-GetHerThere, the largest, boldest advocacy and fundraising cause dedicated to girls' leadership in the nation's history. The multi-year effort will seek to create balanced leadership — the equal representation of women in leadership positions in all sectors and levels of society — within one generation.

Along with this cause, Girl Scouts has launched a $1 billion philanthropic campaign for girls to fuel this effort, and to fund opportunities that enable girls to lead. Ninety percent of funds raised will go directly to services and programs for girls across the nation and in 94 countries globally to help fill critical talent gaps in finance, science, technology and the environmental and global leadership arenas.
